As you review the admissions decisions for your interviewees, please keep the following important items in mind:

- Application details for interviewees are confidential. Please do not share the name or personal information of applicants with anyone.

- Admissions decisions are also confidential. Please do not share admissions decisions with anyone. ASC directors may share aggregate statistics with their local ASC membership.

- Please contact those admitted students whom you interviewed to offer your congratulations. The Admissions Office will also contact admitted students to encourage them to enroll at Yale. So we do not overwhelm these students with too much recruiting, we ask that ASC members do not initiate contact with admitted students more than once a month.

- If you send out emails to a group of admitted students, please blind carbon copy (bcc) the recipients so their email addresses are not shared with the group. Check and double-check to make sure that you are only including admitted students on this email. If you would prefer, you can ask Undergraduate Admissions to send a message on your behalf.

- Applications for students who have been wait-listed will be reviewed again after the candidates’ reply date of May 1st. Wait-listed students will receive final admissions decisions in the months following. We ask that you do not initiate contact with students who have been wait-listed. If wait-listed students have additional questions, please refer them to their area admissions officer at (203) 432-9316.

- The decision to deny admission to a candidate is a final one. The Admissions Committee will not review the application again. Please do not initiate contact with a student who has been denied admission.
